The African Centre for Science and International Security headquartered in Accra-Ghana is dedicated to training and educating the next generation of government analysts and practitioners from around the world in the complex realities behind the spread of weapons of mass destruction.

We help protect the world from the most dangerous weapons. As part of the non-profit African network of programs and initiatives, our work is supported by foundations and private citizens just like you. We hope you will consider a gift today, or contact us to find out more about what we do and why we believe it is important.
